-143 and Mr. Lynch, saw this on SimTV, surprised it was not posted here in the general section, or maybe you guys kept in the Squadron group. Outstanding job on this. Great way to advertise the VRS and vUSN with this one:

Highside, yeah I posted in the 143 forum. Been in a bit of a rush lately and forgot to post it to main. Glad you liked it. I'll be capturing footage for Part 2 the rest of the cruise. As I stated in the squadron forum, I hope to get more "non-solo" footage in the coming weeks. It just seemed to work out this time that I ended up flying at odd times when no one else was able too. Hopefully during one of the upcoming "LFE's" ;) we'll have a good turnout and I can get some good stuff. While Part 1 is mainly a Dog's video, I would like to try and make Part 2 more of a CVW video.

Anyway, thanks for picking up my slack man. Glad you dig it. B)

Didn't know if it was a secret or something. Simviation has a Simteevee link and I caught the vid on there. Reminded me to quit procrastinating and get new high speed laptop now that Windows 7 is out. I can only imagine doing ACM with Track IR.

Sir, I'm starting to consider getting a new laptop too. If you have any hint let me know. I have taken a look at the ones from alienware.com although the're a little bit expensive!

Manoel,

Kind of limited on laptops, but I need mobility. I have seen the alienwares, but they a bit pricy for the higher end models. I also need to find a portable joystick as well.
